

BILLY (THE KID)

Billy was named by a volunteer who found him just after birth in April 2008 and thought he looked like a little goat, hence his name.

She reports after watching over him for years that since he turned into such a handsome almost white stallion that we should soon start calling William (The Great) since he is looking so dignified.

He is so far from the gangly new born that he was; he was a tee-shirt model for the May fundraiser and a cover model on the Horsemen's Voice in March 2008 along with Jasmine.

Besides his looks improving he has honing his leadership skills. Billy is running free, watching over his little family on the preserve.
