

MAVERICK

Maverick was born November 4th 2008 (Election Day) to Pinta and Don Juan. The volunteer who named her thought some kind of nod to the election candidates would be appropriate. She was born late in the year but proved to be tough, weathering the cold winter. She was often seen with ice cycles on her back.

When she was three days old her mother and the band were spotted on a very steep hill and ran full force to the bottom with maverick staying right next to her mom, she is very sure footed.

She looks like a cutting horse when she runs, a real rodeo girl. Maverick was born with a blue eye that has not changed. She is very short, strong and stocky. We call her a “pony”.

Her short stature isn't a deterrent to her courage. While being held at the holding corral until she and her family could get moved to the preserve she was fearless! She would nudge her way into a crowded trough and not be intimidated by horses almost twice her size.
