

MILAGRO

Milagros is truly a miracle baby. He was born June 28, 2008 to Nana. He is a handsome bay with a crooked white blaze and Nana's forehead colic. He has developed into a handsome stallion.

After Nana's return to good health she had Milagros in an easy birth that was actually witnessed by a Placitas WILD member. Early in the morning Nana appeared agitated, lay down, and gave birth within an hour. She had him walking up a steep hill within two hours. With his family members taking turns urging him to keep up with nose nudges. During the birth his family kept watch over Nana and Milagros while a group of coyotes circled.

Milagros suffered an injury the day after his birth. His knee got swollen and he could not put weight on it. Placitas WILD members got a vet tech to look him over and discovered he had cactus spines embedded in his knee. Several weeks of treatment ensued. We would hold him down, clean his wound, and rebandage it.

He fully recovered, but if you look closely one of his front "knees" is bigger than the other.

He is on the preserve, leading his small herd, and thriving where he is free from capture and is a living legacy of Nana.

Seen below with Sassy and as he looks all grown up!
